“ Chief’s Talk - And They’re Off.... “

Jessica Rose, DO began her professional education receiving her Bachelor of Arts degree, graduating cum laude in 2005 from Skidmore College in Saratoga Springs, New York. She graduated from the University of New England, College of Osteopathic Medicine in Biddeford, ME receiving her degree in 2009. She then moved to Tucson, joining our General Surgery Residency Program here at the University of Arizona. Dr. Rose is a professional member of such organizations as: The American Medical Association, The American Osteopathic Association, The American College of Surgeons, The Arizona Chapter ACS and The Tucson Surgical Society and has been heavily involved in teaching some of our Medical Student activities. She has been an invited speaker to many local conferences and Grand Rounds including some outside facility sites and as a volunteer, she was part of a Global Medical Brigades Medical Mission that traveled to Honduras providing primary care services to about 500 clinic patients, bringing donated medicines to various orphaned children in that region. Aside from her passion in the medical/surgical field, Dr. Rose also holds a passion for horses. She has been riding since the age of 7 and began competing at the age of 11; competing in National Championship Shows in various types of events. In addition, she has been an exercise rider and horse trainer for various levels of show competitions. Dr. Rose has many journal publications to her credit, including one book chapter and is involved with many ongoing research projects. Please be sure to join us as Dr. Rose speaks on the topic of “ And They’re Off... ”
